What is a Tidal Bore?

The Bay of Fundy’s Minas Basin is home to the highest tides in the world! The incoming Fundy tides are so significant that twice a day they temporarily reverse the flow of several rivers that typically flow into the Bay. When the tide and Salmon River collide, a wave (tidal bore) naturally forms and travels upriver around the predicted time posted in this brochure. As the river fills up, the tidal bore eventually dissipates and the river’s flow returns back towards the bay.

The height of the tidal bore increases with the range of the tide which varies with the phases of the moon. When the moon is in its new and full phases and closest to Earth, it becomes in sync with the two tidal bulges and the result is 'spring' or high tides. When the moon is further away from Earth and out of step with Earth's water bulges (first and last quarters) it produces the lowest tides which are called 'neap' tides.

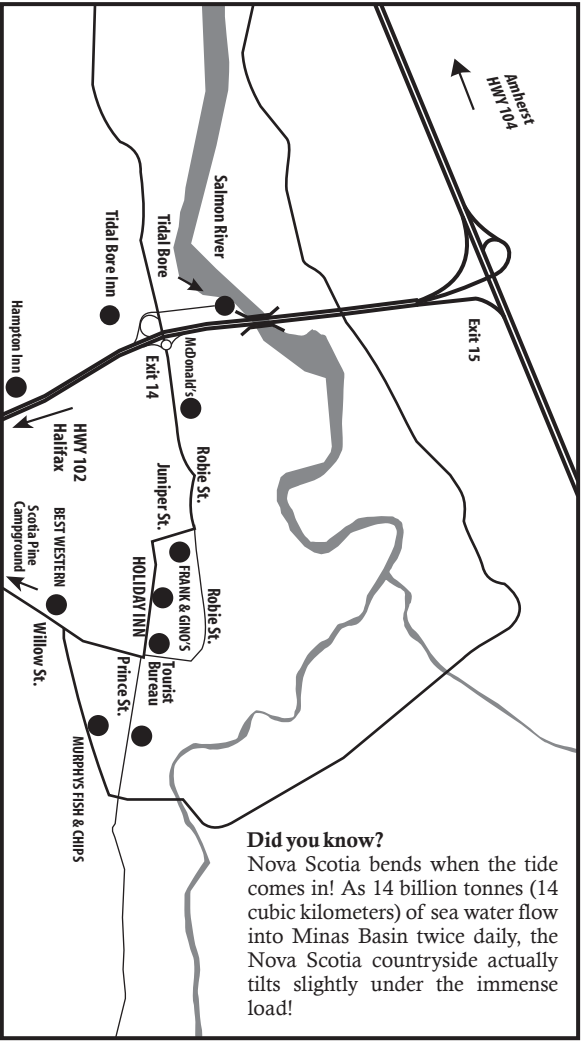

This wonder of nature can be seen at the Fundy Discovery Site located at the end of Tidal Bore Road just off Highway 102 (Exit 14) Truro. Look for the new “Tidal Viewing” sign just off the highway (see map on back of brochure). The time of the Tidal Bore can vary several minutes either way, depending on weather and conditions. We suggest you arrive 10-15 minutes in advance of times shown.
